

AUTHOR INDEX

A

- Abramson, Harold A., and Engel, Margery. Skin reactions. II. The effect of allergic and histamine wheals on the rate of absorption of dyes and blood from the human cutis, 65.
- Andrews, George Clinton. (See Schwartz and Andrews), 219.
- Announcement, 1, 83.
- Astrachan, Girsch D., and Sharp, E. A. The value of administration of liver in patients intolerant to arsenicals, 427.

B

- Baer, R. L. (See Sulzberger and Baer), 45.
- Bazett, H. C. The effect of temperature on the skin: a review, 413.
- Becker, S. William. (See Obermayer and Becker), 85.
- Becker, S. William, and Thatcher, Harold W. Multiple idiopathic hemorrhagic sarcoma of Kaposi. Historical review, nomenclature; and theories relative to the nature of the disease, with experimental studies of two cases, 379.
- Benham, Rhoda W. (See DeLamater and Benham), 451.

C

- Clarke, George E. (See Tauber and Clarke), 109.
- Cormia, Frank E. Experimental arsphenamine sensitization, 199.
- Cornbleet, Theodore. The excretion of bromide through the skin, 399.

D

- DeLamater, E. D., and Benham, Rhoda W. Experimental studies with the dermatophytes. I. Primary disease in laboratory animals, 451.
- II. Immunity and hypersensitivity produced in laboratory animals, 469.

E

- Editorial, 5.
- Engel, Margery. (See Abramson and Engel), 65.
- Epstein, Stephan. Presentation of the hypothesis that Trichophyton interdigitale is a degenerated Trichophyton gypsum, 141.

F

- Fitzgerald, Elsie Mae. (See Kemp and Fitzgerald), 353.
- Frank, Samuel B. Formolized herpes virus therapy and the neutralizing substance in herpes simplex, 267.
- Frei, Wilhelm. On the skin test in lymphogranuloma inguinale. A brief review and a discussion of some possible causes of error, 367.
- Frei, Wilhelm, and Sulzberger, Marion B. Further studies in arsphenamine hypersensitiveness in guinea pigs. I. Cutaneous and anaphylactic responses to old arsphenamine and to neoarsphenamine after sensitization with old arsphenamine, 191.

G

- Grolnick, Max. Studies in contact dermatitis. III. Active sensitization with Krameria in man, 179.

H

Hazay, Clarise. (See Rein and Hazay), 283.

J

Jadassohn, Werner, Uehlinger, E., and Margot, A. The nipple test: studies in the local and systemic effects on topical application of various sex hormones, 31.

K

Kemp, Jarold E., and Fitzgerald, Elsie Mae. Studies in experimental congenital syphilis and the transference of immunity from immune syphilitic female rabbits to their offspring, 353.

Kile, Roy L., and Peffle, A. W. Further investigations of poison ivy hypersensitiveness in guinea pigs, 59.

L

Landis, Eugene M. The capillaries of the skin; a review, 295.

Lewis, George M. (See MacKee and Lewis), 131.

M

MacKee, George Miller. Presidential address, 235.

MacKee, George M., and Lewis, George M. Dandruff and seborrhea. I. Flora of "normal" and diseased scalps, 131.

Margot, A. (See Jadassohn, Uehlinger and Margot), 31.

Martin, H. M. Parasitic skin diseases of domesticated animals and their importance to dermatologists: a review, 313.

Montgomery, Hamilton. Xanthomatosis. III. Cutaneous xanthoma, especially in relation to disease of the liver, 325.

O

Obermayer, M. E., and Becker, S. William. Ammonium succinimidoaurate. A gold compound of low toxicity, 85.

P

Peck, Samuel M., and Rosenfeld, Herbert. The effects of hydrogen ion concentration, fatty acids and vitamin C on the growth of fungi, 237.

Peffle, A. W. (See Kile and Peffle), 59.

R

Rein, Charles R., and Hazay, Clarise. The Laughlen test for syphilis, 283.

Rosenfeld, Herbert. (See Peck and Rosenfeld), 237.

S

Schaaf, Fritz. On the experimental production of xanthomas in laboratory animals, 11.

Schwartz, Louis, and Andrews, George Clinton. Investigation of a method for preventing dermatitis from dress shields, 219.

Shaffer, Bertram. The effect of copper in vitiligo, 225.

Sharp, E. A. (See Astrachan and Sharp), 427.

Sulzberger, Marion B., and Baer, R. L. Sensitization to simple chemicals. Relationship between chemical structure and properties and the sensitizing capacities in the production of eczematous sensitivity in man, 45.

Sulzberger, Marion B. (See Frei and Sulzberger), 191.

T

Tauber, E. B., and Clarke, George E. Daily peroral administration of soluble bismuth to experimental animals, 109.

Thatcher, Harold W. (See Becker and Thatcher), 379.

U

Uehlinger, E. (See Jadassohn, Uehlinger and Margot), 31.

W

Williams, Donald H. Skin temperature reaction to histamine in atopic dermatitis (disseminated neurodermatitis), 119.